

HAMPTON, PHOEBUS AND OLD POINT.

BOY'S LIFE CRUSHED OUT

Calvin Harwood Falls From Wagon and is Instantly Killed.

WHEELS PAST OVER BREAST

Youngster Was Employee of William Patrick—How the Accident Occurred Will Never be Known—Funeral This Afternoon.

Calvin W. Harwood, fourteen years old, the son of Mr. Claude Harwood, in Holt street, met instant death by falling from a wagon in West Queen street, shortly before 9 o'clock yesterday morning. The wheels of the heavily loaded vehicle passed over the boy's breast and his chest and a portion of the stomach were completely crushed. A blood vessel near the heart was ruptured and the young man died before medical assistance could be gotten to him.

Just how the boy lost his balance and fell to the ground will never be known, as no one witnessed the accident. He was driving for Mr. William Patrick, a wood dealer at the cross roads, and was making a trip from Hampton wharf to the woodyard. When near the store of Mr. Joe Webber, in West Queen street, the accident occurred.

Linden Sexton, a colored driver, found young Harwood lying under his wagon and the horse attached to the vehicle was standing perfectly still. The colored boy gave the alarm and the injured youth was hurried to his home in Holt street. When Dr. W. P. Isley arrived the physician pronounced the boy dead and expressed the opinion that death was instantaneous. Harwood started to work for Mr. Patrick Friday.

Funeral services will be conducted from the Church of Christ this afternoon at 3 o'clock and it is expected that Rev. A. J. Renforth, of York county, will be the officiating minister. The body was turned over to Undertakers R. C. Hall & Son, who prepared it for burial.

DEATH OF MRS. OUTTEN.

Attack of Apoplexy Proves Fatal to Well Known Lady.

Mrs. Maria Ellen Outten, eighty-one years old, a well known lady of this city, died in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jesse H. Peel, in South King street, at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning. Mrs. Outten was taken with an attack of apoplexy Friday afternoon and never rallied from the moment she was stricken.

Mrs. Outten, who was Miss Kendall before her marriage, was born in Eastville, Va., on September 2, 1829. After her marriage she came here with her husband and has since made this city her residence. She was active in church work up to the time of her death, having been a member of the First Methodist church. She is survived by two children—Mrs. Peek and Mr. J. C. Outten.

Last the family announced that the funeral services would be held from the First Methodist church tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. Rev. George W. Wray will conduct the services and the interment will be made in St. John's cemetery.

JEROME DEITRICK IS ATTACKED BY NEGRO

While Returning Home in Klondyke Avenue, Aged Man is Struck Down Dark.

While returning to his home in Klondyke avenue, near Phoebus about 11 o'clock last night in company with Freeman White, Jerome Deitrick, an aged man, was attacked from the rear by an unknown negro, who afterwards escaped. The negro struck the aged man behind the left ear with some blunt instrument, inflicting an ugly gash about three inches long. Mr. White yielded for help when the assault was made and the negro fled. It is supposed that his motive was robbery.

After fleeing from the scene, the negro boarded a car coming from Buckree to Phoebus and he has not since been seen. The Hampton and Phoebus departments were notified of the assault, but at an early hour this morning they had not succeeded in locating the man.

Mr. Deitrick was taken to the office of Dr. T. H. Massie, in Phoebus, and the physician took two stitches in the wound. Mr. Deitrick was later moved to his home.

The negro who made the attack wore a light hat, light overcoat and had a white handkerchief around his neck.

HOWARD W. SAUNDERS' APPOINTED GENERAL AGENT

To Take Charge of Girard Fire Insurance Business in State of Virginia.

Mr. Howard W. Saunders, one of the best known fire insurance men in this section, was yesterday notified of his appointment as general agent of Virginia for the Girard Fire and Marine Insurance Company, of Philadelphia. The company has heretofore conducted its Virginia business through the offices in Baltimore and the announcement of Mr. Saunders' selection for this state will be of general interest to fire insurance men throughout the state.

At present the company has forty-five agencies in the state and all these will hereafter have to make their reports to Mr. Saunders. The agency is to be the means of giving Hampton advertising and keeping a good sum of money in this section.

Mr. Saunders has been the manager of the firm of Jones, Saunders & Company for the past eighteen years and is also the secretary and manager of the Home Fire Insurance Corporation, a local insurance organization, which has grown into great popularity during the past three years. He is accounted one of the cleverest insurance men in Tidewater Virginia.

Mr. Saunders will leave Tuesday for Philadelphia to complete the details for taking over the business of the company in Virginia, which he expects to do on the first of next month.

EAGLES TO RICHMOND.

Big Delegation Will Hear the Address of Worthy President Herring.

A large number of the members of Hampton Aerie of Eagles will "fly" to Richmond, in a special car, over the Chesapeake and Ohio railway next Sunday to attend the memorial services of the Richmond aerie. The grand worthy president of the order in the United States, Mr. Frank Herring, of Indianapolis, Ind., is to be the speaker of the occasion and the local "birds" are anxious to meet the head of the order. The committee in charge of the trip is composed of Messrs. Moses Miller, J. B. Diestil, John Sherman, Frank H. Walker and M. J. Murphy.

How the Issue Was Raised.
It is necessary to correct understanding of the controversy which has arisen over the Ballinger-Pinchot conflict to go back to the beginning and trace out the events which brought these officials into collision and to recall the relation which each of them bore to the question now at dispute before the change in the Federal administration reversed the policy which Roosevelt had endorsed of dealing with water sites and mineral lands under Federal ownership. As Ballinger all along been on the side of would-be sequestrators of the public property? Has Pinchot always stood for conservation of the people's interest in that property? Read the following tabulation of the events preceding and leading to Pinchot's dismissal, and draw the logical conclusions:

January 6—Notice was served on James R. Garfield, secretary of the interior, that his services would not be required in the Taft cabinet.
January 7—Roosevelt conferred with Pinchot and Garfield relative to emergency measures for withdrawing power sites, minerals, etc., from the reach of the predatory corporations.
February to March—Sweeping withdrawals were made of power sites, mineral oil, forests and other public lands.
March 4—Taft appointed as Secretary of the Interior R. A. Ballinger, who had been allowed to resign by Roosevelt as land commissioner for not conforming with the Roosevelt conservation policies.
April to May 15—Ballinger made wholesale restorations to entry of power sites and coal lands.
May 15—Pinchot protested to Taft against the course pursued by Ballinger, and Taft ordered Ballinger to withdraw power site lands.
May 15-30—Ballinger withdrew some power site lands. He has stated previously that not any of these lands could legally be withdrawn.
June to September—Ballinger's connection with the Cunningham coal claims was exposed by L. R. Glavis of the forestry service. Ballinger was shown to have acted as attorney for claimants and to have appeared before Garfield seeking to press the claims of patent.
September to October—Taft published a letter whitewashing Ballinger, ordered Glavis dismissed and wrote to Pinchot that he had every confidence in his integrity.
November to December—Ballinger sent a young lawyer (Sheridan) to Seattle to represent the Government in the case of the Cunningham claims. Glavis and others were not called in to the case.
December to January—Ballinger requested congress to investigate.
December 27—Taft authorized legislation for a joint commission of the House and Senate, the members to be named by Speaker Cannon and Vice-President Sherman.
December 27—Pinchot accepted battle and declared that it was a fight to a finish.
January 6—President Taft made public Attorney General Wickersham's report upholding Ballinger and denouncing Glavis' charges as false.
January 6—Pinchot sent Senator Duffiver a statement declaring his confidence in Glavis, and insisting that Taft has been misled as to the real facts.
January 7—Taft, reaffirming faith in Ballinger, ordered Pinchot's removal.

Now comes the congressional investigation.—Norfolk Virginian-Pilot.

Three Months for Davenport.
